MISSION STATEMENT

Our mission is to provide ongoing education in literature, particularly in poetry, in a way that will encourage and enrich a broad community of readers and writers. In the spirit of William Stafford's gifts as a teacher, we are also devoted to the free expression of literature and conscience. We seek ways to share his work and advance the spirit of his teaching and literary witness. We direct our work toward education in local communities, to contribute to the poet's legacy for generations to come.

HOW THE INK FEELS

Friends of William Stafford has put together a wonderful traveling exhibit of letterpress broadsides, featuring the writings of numerous poets and authors. This is a one-of-a-kind exhibit of exquisitely framed literary art. In honor of William Stafford, we have named this exhibit How The Ink Feels. This showing has traveled from coast to coast as a tribute to literary expression. Many have given testimony to the fact that this exhibit is a living demonstration of the vitality and value of the written word.

We are inviting you to help ensure that this exhibit continues to travel to libraries, schools, galleries and institutions throughout the country. Our goal is to establish this exhibit in at least 12 venues a year.

Your contribution to How The Ink Feels is vital to the primary mission of Friends of William Stafford. We appreciate all that you can do to help advance the role of poetry and literature in our lives.
